Monday Deadline to File BOE Candidacy

The deadline for filing nominating petitions to run for positions on the South Plainfield Board of Education is 4 p.m., Monday, Feb. 26. The election is Tuesday, April 17.

Prospective candidates can obtain a School Board Candidate Kit at the school district office at 125 Jackson Ave., between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily. The kit includes the nominating petition; information about legal qualifications for school board candidacy; campaign procedures and the role of a school board member. Information about the New Jersey School Ethics Act, important dates in the school election process and briefing sessions for school board candidates are also included in the kit.

"School board members serve as their communities' voices in setting educational goals," said Kevin E. Ciak, NJSBA president. "They make important decisions concerning the curriculum, staffing and financing of public schools.

Serving on your local school board doesn't require a degree in education. The most important attribute a candidate can bring to office is a sincere interest in the community, its children and their education.

To the Editor:

There was a South Plainfield family that needed help. Circumstances made them destitute. Their house was in need of paint, repair and furniture. This loving family fell upon hard times and needed support to make their house a

As a social worker, I announced at a middle school faculty meeting that there was a family in need of assistance. I asked that if any one had extra furniture, housewares or paint to please let me know. The faculty immediately decided to donate $100 from the faculty's Sunshine Fund. The very next day, several teachers took the initiative to announce to their classes that a family in our community needed help. Students eagerly brought in money to buy needed items for the family. From the students alone, we were able to provide a food gift card, fixings for a holiday meal and approximately $350 towards furniture. At the same time, South Plainfield Middle School teacher Jim Makowski volunteered to make house repairs and paint several areas of the house on his own time. Bill Mosca, also a middle school teacher here, volunteered to pick up the new furniture, therefore saving money for delivery and also helped paint, repair and put together furniture-also on his own time.

Middle School teacher Michelle Holler presented a check for $200 from the sisterhood of her Hillsborough synagogue, Temple Beth El. In addition, my own synagogue, Congregation B'nai Tikvah of North and South Brunswick, donated $500. Unsolicited, teachers were coming into my office donating money to help the family. Money was also received from family and friends of the faculty as the concern about the family spread.

The family needed carpeting in two rooms of their house. Makowski and I went to Carpets Plus and spoke to Paul Ignoscia, the owner. I explained the situation and asked if he could help. Not only did this man offer to provide wall-to-wall Berber carpeting for the two rooms, but his partner, Gary Columbus, was willing to install it without charge. Although the holiday season is a busy time for their business, they got it all installed by Dec. 18, allowing all the other furniture, repairs and Christmas tree to follow and fall into place. Based on their responsiveness, care and concern, they are without a doubt good people to do business with.

At the same time this activity was going on, the South Plainfield Soccer Club was also helping this family by fixing electrical problems, getting the refrigerator repaired, purchasing storage cabinets or obtaining needed furniture. The list is endless. This was all spearheaded by Ann Marie Ferrante-Seyffart, one incredible lady. All the coaches, their spouses, club members and friends of club members dedicated their time and resources to this family.

Roosevelt PTO donated a $300 gift card to Lowe's. We began coordinating services, and by the time Christmas came, the family had a fully Seeing the transformation of the mother and her children from sad faces to ones of hope and appreciation was worth it all. During a season when life is very hectic and we are all trying to find the "perfect" gifts for our own families, it was very heartwarming and inspiring to me that everyone reached out to this family without anyone asking. The faculty, PTO, soccer club.. our community came together to help a less fortunate family. I think all of us learned once again how good it feels to help others and to make a difference in people's lives.

There once was a family who was in need of help-but no more. Thank you South Plainfield, their house is

Dear Editor,

It was with great pride for our amazing Garden State that I read an article recently about the incandescent light bulb potentially being phased out in favor of more efficient fluorescent lighting. We live in the land of innovation, so this shouldn't surprise us.

The incandescent light bulb was one of the most important inventions of our time, perfected for mass use by Thomas Edison in the 19th century here in New Jersey! We may be sad to see it go, but as New Jerseyans we can be proud of the important role Edison and his life-improving inventions made to our state and world.

Christie Street in Edison was the first street to be illuminated by the now 125-year old light bulb, and is

Hundreds of thousands of school children over the years have learned about electric light and Edison's inventions by visiting the Edison National Historic sites in Edison and West Orange. Many fourth grade students in the Celebrate NJ! school program choose Thomas Edison as the topic of their research project as they write about what makes New Jersey great. The invention of the incandescent light bulb is a "bright spot" in New Jersey's history and is one more reason we should celebrate our great Brian Zielinksi first adopted this spot a year ago after he read about the South Plainfield Clean Business Association's Adopt-A-Spot program in the local press. Amidst much excitement and celebration, Curves in South Plainfield marked its third anniversary on Feb. 9. Members were treated to free facials, makeovers, belly dance instruction, refreshments and a raffle for a free month. The festive and energetic atmosphere encouraged all to work hard and have fun while doing so.

Elsa Hahm of Edison, Lori Suchomel of Westfield and Marie Kasner of Colonia help plan the Harvest Quilter's annual quilt show.

Sharing the Quilts XXIV

Quilting is alive and growing in interest here in the 21st century in New Jersey. This colonial craft, which has been called the "homespun art of women's history," has taken on new life in this century with great short cut tools and methods being employed to created gifts and decorator items that bring warmth as well as function into our modern homes. The best news of all is that all contemporary fabrics are even more durable and colorfast than they were in the past and therefore have more longevity as they grace our dwellings.

On March 31 the Harvest Quilters of Central Jersey, with co-sponsorship from Watchung Art Center, will present their annual quilt show. The Harvest Quilters have been holding annual quilt shows for most of the last 25 years and now, in 2007, their show, "Sharing the Quilts XXIV" will again be held at the Wilson Memorial Union Church in Watchung from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Groupings of log cabin quilts, stepping up quilts and mystery quilt tops from a recent Harvest Quilters' workshop will be part of the display. The log cabin group was made by experience quilters and quilt students so the result is that all levels of experience can be observed in the work. Attendees to the show can be challenged at whatever level their own ability falls. In addition, some Friendship Quilt projects can be seen. Twenty-eight participants from the Harvest Quilters, with group members as far away as Texas and New Mexico, took part in a friendship block exchange and while all 28 will not be ready for this year's show, some will be shown this year as tops. They will be in the 2008 show. It's amazing to see a person's personal pattern redone with everyone else's fabric over and over and finally being incorporated into a whole quilt top. This display is a "not to be missed" example of how color and fabric choices can influence patterns and overall block placement in a given

Other features of the quilt show will be live demonstrations of piecing techniques and quilt making, team room for lunch and snacks, select fabric and notions vendors, raffle quilt, viewer's choice voting and some door prizes. One vendor will feature African fabrics and another is a professional machine quilter. There is a large lot for off street parking.

For further information e-mail aeel man@gmail.com, call (908) 755-7653, or send a self addressed stamped envelope to Quilt Show, 97 Belmont Ave., North Plainfield, N.J. 07060 to receive a flyer. Web site can be viewed at www.harvestquilters.com.

Book Recycling Program Success Spreads

A Middlesex County pilot program to recycle unusable hardcover books has proved to be a success and is now spreading to other locations.

More than 4.2 tons of paper was generated by the South Plainfield School District, which serves as the kick-off district for the program. Students were enlisted to rip off the covers of the books to make them recyclable.

County and local officials are using the program to increase recycling awareness and collection at schools throughout the county.

"The book recycling program in our schools is a great educational tool for students. School officials have helped bring a new excitement to our recycling efforts," said Freeholder Camille Fernicola, chair of the County's Engineering and Planning Committee. "It's in everyone's best interest to recycle unusable books and important for all of us to encourage students to develop good recycling babits."

Fernicola said the program has a number of benefits: recycled books do not take space in the trash stream, students benefit from hands-on recycling efforts and municipalities save the expense of landfill dumping fees.

The project is the product of a partnership between the Middlesex County Division of Solid Waste Management, the Middlesex County Improvement Authority (MCIA), which operates the curbside recycling collection program in 16 municipalities, and school districts throughout the county.

Leo Whalen, principal at Grant Elementary School, first approached the county about a book recycling program. Before Grant students participated in the program, a 3- to 4-foothigh pile of unusable books lined the wall of the school's cafeteria. Whalen said the school tried to sell or give the books away, but no one wanted them. He said the students received a great hands-on civics lesson.

"These students are a model for everyone else and they should be very proud of themselves," Whalen said. "We are very happy with the outcome of the program in our school. We're seeing an increase in recycling awareness in the classroom. Our teachers and students are more conscious of recycling and the importance of it and are making sure paper is going in the right place."

The county and the MCIA contracted with Waste Management of New Jersey Inc. to provide special covered recycling containers to collect the materials. It was first stationed at Grant School. Eventually all South Plainfield schools participated.

The books were then brought to Port Newark for recycling. Originally, the South Plainfield district was to receive $20 per recycled ton from the recycling facility, however, the quality of the recyclable material was higher than expected, and the district received $50 per ton.

The program is now being conducted in North Brunswick.

Municipalities whose schools participate in the book recycling program will receive recycling credits from the State, which adjusts recycling subsidies to towns based on each town's volume of recycled materials. The more recycled materials, the higher the subsidy.

The county will receive additional tonnage credits toward its overall recycling rate, whose minimum goal is 60 percent each year.

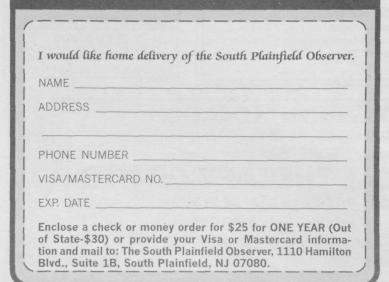

School districts interested in participating in the book recycling program should contact Ed Windas, MCIA's recycling manager, at (732) 628-0221.

The Big Issue

Student Success Program To be Presented at SPHS

South Plainfield High School will present the highly rated "Making College and Career Count" in-school presentation program for the senior class. The one-hour presentation will be delivered free to students and parents at 8:30 a.m. on March 7.

The presentation is designed to help students begin to think about their next steps upon graduation and what they need to accomplish throughout the upcoming years in order to maximize their opportunities for future success. The program also addresses important issues such as time management, choosing career paths, gaining experience through internships and meaningful work experience and study skills.

"Graduation from high school is a key transition period in a student's life," said Making It Count Vice President J.R. Cifani. "Our goal is to provide and reinforce the positive messages counselors and teachers are giving to their students during this crucial time and help students understand that anyone can be successful if they choose to be."

The Making College and Career Count presentation program will be presented to more than 650,000 high school seniors nationwide during the 2007 spring semester. Monster's Making It Count also provides free presentations for freshmen and juniors and has reached over 13 million students since 1999. Guidance counselors on average rated the value of the ideas presented a 9.4 on a 10-point scale.

Key content and supporting materials for the Making College and Career Count presentation can be found online at www.makingitcount.com. The Web site offers a variety of resources for high school students.

FROM THE DESK OF DEBBIE BOYLE

Congratulations to the South Plainfield High School Wrestling Team and their coaches on winning their third consecutive Group II title in the New -Jersey Wrestling State Championship. Also, congratulations to the Recreation Wrestling Club on their entrance into the Wildwood Tournament.

Residents will be able to watch Superintendent of Schools Dr. Robert Rosado present the 2007 Budget on Comcast Channel 74 at the end of March. These presentations will help residents understand what will affect their child's future education. Due to State mandates, the Board needs to cut $1M from the school budget. It's important for all residents to attend the budget hearings.

Math and science grade averages are on the low end of the scale all across the United States. There are Federal funds available to help our schools to raise the bar in these areas. Property tax reform is needed now and your support is needed. Contact your senators by logging on www.spnet.k.

Congratulations to young residents Jason Garcia, Tiffany Price and John Mocharski, Jr., who received appointments by the mayor and council as probationary firefighters for the volunteer fire department.

NEA's Read Across America will be held on March 2.

Our thoughts and prayers are with the Ferrante and Anderson Families.

"Buckets for Bob" takes place on Thursday, March 8 from 5 to 9 p.m. at the high school gym. This fundraiser is a two-person-team hot shot tournament and is open to all ages. The cost to participate is $10 per person. I commend all neighbors and friends who are joining together to help a family who has always been there in the past, volunteering their time to help South Plainfield. For further information ot to register, contact Tom McCreesh at (908) 755-8468.

The t-shirts the SPHS students wore last Thursday were focused on the positive and never meant to cause resentment. Children do make mistakes, but when they become repeat offenders it becomes a definite problem that should be addressed by adults.

The SPHS Student Leadership program, under the direction of Mary Ellen Martko, Mr. Baker, Ms. Vandermark, Mr. Encinas, Ms. Zurka, Mr. Hajduk and Ms. Raimondo are once again not only providing leadership, but are constantly expanding their many community services to include visiting the Cedarbrook nursing facility every Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m. Our young students are reaching out to those residents with singing, picture painting, playing board games, dancing, nail art and chatting. Thank you to all the student leaders for sharing their time to spread joy to others. Thank you to Karen, recreation director at Cedarbook, for welcoming our student leaders.

Students at SPHS have been instructed to park in the student parking area and not in the teachers parking area. Many of the student cars that are registered with the school have been issued school stickers, but not all student cars are parking in the student lot. This situation has caused detention for some students and what is good for one should be good for all.

Maryanne Costa Retires After 46 Years

Kindergarten teacher Maryanne Costa recently retired after 46 years of service to the South Plainfield School District. Costa was an enduring presence at Kennedy School's kindergarten. She taught three generations of Kennedy families, including a current faculty member as well as her children.

Costa began her educational career teaching 36 third graders in a split session (from 7 a.m. to 12 noon) at the old Grant School for a month and a half. She was transferred and became a kindergarten teacher and stayed at Kennedy School for the remainder of

When Kennedy opened, 250 kindergarten children were enrolled with five teachers. There were two teachers team-teaching 50 children in each AM and PM class, plus one additional class. With the exception of teaching second grade for 3-4 years, with 42 children in a class, Costa has always taught kindergarten.

Costa graduated from Trenton State Teachers College (now the College of New Jersey), Class of 1960, with a bachelor of arts degree. In addition to NJEA and SPEA membership, she is a member of the New Jersey Association of Kindergarten Educators. Costa has been honored as a New Jersey Governor's Teacher Award recipient. During her long tenure at Kennedy she served on many committees, including the Report Card and Kindergarten committees. She was also on the Sunshine Committee at Kennedy School for 30 years.

Costa is an avid reader and enjoys all arts and crafts, including crocheting. In her classes she always included arts and crafts experience for her students to create and share with their families as keepsakes of their kindergarten days.

Her colleagues, friends and family will honor Maryanne Costa for her

From the South Plainfield Library

By Jaimie Donnelly

While cleaning out a closet, drawer or attic we all have questioned if a found item is of any value. Often the answer is not an easy one to find, but here at the library we have some tools to assist you in locating a price and

"Antiques Roadshow Collectibles" by Carol Prisant from the antique dealers of PBS's most watched series has over 500 pages of value listings for items from the 20th century. "Price it Yourself" by Joe Rosson is also a good general book of items and values. If your antique items need some at-home repairing before selling, then why not check out "How to Restore and Repair Practically Everything" by Lorraine Johnson. If you question the originality of your item, then it is a good idea to check out "Antique Trader Guide to Fakes and Reproductions" by Mark Chervanka. For the latest information about what is hot in the business of antiques and collecting, you will want to check out a few copies of Antiques and Collecting Magazine.

These are just some of the over 40 antiques' publications at the library to help assist you with our upcoming free antiques appraisal program at the library. Popular presenter Alan G. Snyder returns to the library on March 4 from 2 to 4 p.m. Appraisals are limited to two per person and there is no preregistration.

For our baseball fans we invite you to a free presentation at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 25 by author Angelo Saverino who wrote, "The Heart of the Order." There is no preregistration for this event and there will be copies of his book available to be purchased and signed.

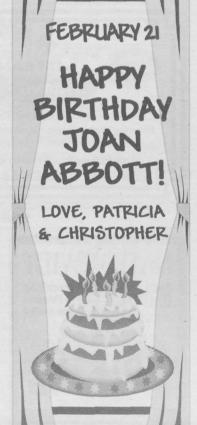

Our storytime and craft program will be running its normal schedule this coming week. For children three years old and up we have programs on Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. and Thursday at 1:15 p.m. Our "Time for 2s and 3s" will be on Wednesday and Thursday at 10:30 a.m. and again at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday. "Books 'N Babies" is on Friday morning at 10:30. All programs are free and there is no preregistration.

For further information about our collection, services and programs, please visit us on the internet at www.southplainfield.lib.nj.us.
