T-shirt incident may lead to a lawsuit

EDISON — The family of J.P. Stevens sophomore, Shaun Chichester, has threatened to sue school officials if Chichester does not receive a public apology from school administrators who ordered him to remove a T-shirt reading "Whaq Iraq" in March.

A June 9 letter addressed to the superintendant, school board members, and J.P. Stevens Principal Fred Riccio and Vice Principal Beth Moroni from Gerald Walpin, a New York attor- including a Supreme Court deci-

"Your dress code, in allowing banning of 'clothing with messages deemed offensive ... or inappropriate as judged by the administration' gives carte blanche discretion to abridge freedom of speech," the letter

He also states that he successfully represented a student in 2002 who was ordered by school officials for wearing a Tshirt that read "Redneck."

Shaun's father Glen S. Chichester, who called the nationally syndicated Howard Stern radio show in March to bring public attention to the incident, gave no comment on the threatened legal proceedings. Chichester had called the school's position "extremely sad" in a Riccio had said in a March telephone interview "Our job is to maintain a positive educational atmosphere ... We are sensitive to our student body ... the feeling was that given our diverse student body, including some students from the (Middle East) region," the shirt might be considered offensive, Riccio had said.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD — The decision whether to allow Ferraro Construction to build 20 single family homes on Delancy Street has been unanimously delayed for two weeks by an 8-0 vote. The borough Planning Board decided to delay because there may be no access to the site which borders Edison. Currently, the only planned access to the site is through Edison. However, Edison may vacate all roads leading to it, essentially leaving it landlocked. Ferraro Construction attorney Vastola, argued what does should not affect borough deliberated and decided by the the board's meeting date, access board," said Vastola, stating an application had also been filed with the Middlesex County Planning Board. "Frankly, what the town of Edison is going to do with respect to this, if anything, is really not, in my opinion, a matter to be decided by this

However, he did note that, "if something happens that eliminates access there goes the application. I don't want to get involved in what may or may not happen in Edison, except we know that we don't have a subdivision if we don't have access through Delancy.'

Board Attorney Chris Nelson said the board has an obligation to ensure any project has access from a public road.

"But if you don't have access through Delancy or Spring Street then you don't have access through a public street," said Nelson. "We have an obligation to the township not to approve an application knowing that you don't have access off an approved street

Two years ago Silver sent a letter to the township proposing to build 390 age-restricted units on her land for which she would ance. Township officials opposed the proposal. Edrington also sought to develop her land, officials said, though no specifics were offered in that case.

The appraisals will be done by Wahler said it would take at least eight months to receive a reply on Green Acres funding. He said after that "we could then sit down and negotiate with the property owners." Thus far, he said, the township does not have any intention of condemning the properties, which are directly across the street from the Cornell

EDISON - Rail trail enthusiasts gathered at Dudash Park on Saturday, despite the downpour, to celebrate the dedication of the nation's 12,000th mile of railroad converted to public trails.

The rain allowed Middlesex Greenway organizer Bob Takash an opportunity to praise the leafy canopy overhanging the section of the trail near Dudash Park which provided some measure of protection from the rain.

The day's walking tour and scavenger hunt were cancelled, but refreshments were served as promised, and event-goers huddled beneath a plastic (and less permeable) canopy to enjoy

Takash says the 12,000th mile falls somewhere along the 3.5mile length of the trail which travels the abandoned Perth Amboy Branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad from Fords to Greenway. "If we don't plan it, it's not going to happen." Takash says of the coalition's project ambitions.

When asked whether DOT plans to expand rail service might impede rail-trail efforts, Takash stated that although rail companies reserve the right to reclaim abandoned right of ways, he is not concerned about the fate of Middlesex Greenway being turned from rail to trail and back to rail.

The trail has not yet been fully improved, but Takash says county funds have been set aside to pave portions of the trail making it suitable for biking and rollerblading.

Takash exclaims "I don't want it to be a secret anymore."

Edison residents turn out for Master Plan hearing

By KATHLEEN G. SUTCLIFFE

STAFF WRITER

EDISON - Residents asked questions and offered suggestions at Tuesday's Master Plan presentation.

Representatives from Schoor DePalma, the consulting company which produced the plan, presented portions of the 159page document and discussed how its implementation would affect the township.

The plan calls for the redevelopment of such industrial sites as the Revlon, Ford and Electrolux facilities in the New Urbanism style.

After the presentation, Council President Peter Barnes asked Schoor DePalma representatives to explain the concept of New Urbanism saying "The concept in Edison is suburban," Barnes said. "When people hear the word urban, a lot of times fear takes over."

Schoor DePalma representative Christine Cofone explained the concept saying it "balances smart development and smart growth with preservation" and that it also serves to "integrate public participation and community consensus building."

The plan's conservation element also drew comments from those at the meeting. Middlesex Greenway organizer Bob Takash praised the conservation plan's consistency with Middlesex County's open space plan saying, "It makes our plan more effective and stronger" and would assist the township in securing open space funds.

"If other towns don't have (a preservation plan) we're going to get the funding.'

Open Space Advisory committee member Ian Durand presented the board with a letter outlining the committee's critiques of the plan, including the notable absence of a housing

Cofone addressed the con- at 70 James St.

cern later in the meeting saying that a housing element would be forthcoming. The uncertain outcome of a pending lawsuit against the township on behalf of builders seeking to construct affordable housing has prevented the township from committing to a "build-out scenario."

Resident Gary Johnson presented a detailed list of suggestions including continuous sidewalks on both sides of all county roads and any road within a half mile of the school or train station. "If you want people to get out of their cars and walk to landmarks, (sidewalks) must be in reasonable conditions," he

Johnson also requested that sheltered bike racks be placed throughout the township to encourage bicycling.

A second meeting, devoted solely to public comment on the plan will be held at 7 p.m. July 2 at the JFK Conference Center

Read and Grow in Piscataway

PISCATAWAY — Piscataway Public Library joins more than 300 libraries in the state participating in the summer reading program, Read and Grow. Registration begins Thursday and continues throughout the summer. Children and teens may register at any Piscataway Library location: the J. F. Kennedy Library, 500 Hoes Lane, the J. W. Westergard Library, 20 Murray Ave., or on the Bookmobile.

The Children's Reading Club is open to all children from birth through grade 6 (infants and preschoolers may be read to). The Young Adult Reading Club is open to teens from grades seven through 12. Children and teens are invited to explore worlds where rainforests emerge, skyscrapers are constructed, cities expand and flowers blossom as they participate in summer-long programs designed to making reading fun and adventurous.

Children will be entertained with crafts, story times and special programs all planned around the Read and Grow theme. They'll also be eligible for prizes. The club will end with a Read and Grow Carnival planned for August.

Teens who participate in the Reading Club may attend book chats and craft programs planned around the theme. Those who read at least three books will be eligible to win a weekly raffle prize. And everyone who participates will be invited to a party at the end of the summer!

Honor the flag this Saturday

For those whose plans were dashed by poor weather on Memorial Day, this Saturday will present the next chance for a patriotic holiday: Flag Day.

June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress adopted our flag, based on, most experts believe, a design by New Jersey Continental Congress delegate Francis Hopkinson. The Stars and Stripes first flew over Somerset County, so it can be said that this is the birth place of the flag. But it took more than a century for Old Glory to earn its own hol-

According to usflag.org, B.J. Cigrand, a schoolteacher in Fredonia, Wis., had his students celebrate June 14, 1885, the 108th anniversary of the adoption of the flag, as "Flag Birthday." He continued to advocate an annual celebration of the flag, and the idea began to catch on.

Soon organizations and schools throughout the country were celebrating Flag Day. By 1894, several states had passed legislation to recognize the day as a holiday.

By 1916, President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed June 14 to be Flag Day, though it was not until two world wars had passed that President Harry Truman signed an Act of Congress in 1949 making June 14 National Flag Day.

Over the years, the flag has meant many things to many people. For most of us, it is a proud symbol of our country, a symbol of freedom. Our founding fathers saw it as the bold symbol of a new land: the white stars in the blue field representing a "new Constellation" in the sky of nations.

The flag, just as our country, has had its detractors. Some say it is stained by the wrongs our country has done. They point to slavery and the destruction of American Indian cultures and claim, "this is what the flag repre-

But they forget that this flag flew at Appomattox Courthouse when the Confederacy died — and with it slavery. They forget that this is the flag that overwhelmed the Nazis and the fascists. This is the flag that cracked the totalitarianism of Communism. This is the flag that has served as a beacon of hope for millions of immigrants seeking and finding a better life. This is the flag of a land of freedom and rights. This is our flag and it is a symbol of us as a people and a nation.

In 1914, Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane delivered a Flag Day address and said of the flag, "I am what you make me; nothing more. I swing before your eyes as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself."

So as you relax; barbecue or head to the movies, take a moment this Saturday for the 24th annual Pause for the Pledge of Allegiance at 7 p.m. Others have sacrificed far more for the flag than that.

Letters to the editor

Hearing sought on new rail tracks

The following letter was sent to Commissioner Jack F. Lettiere of the state Department of Transportation by Edison Mayor George A. Spadoro. A copy was provided to the newspaper by

I understand that the recently announced New Jersey Rail Improvement Plan calls for the improvement of both the Chemical Coast Line and the Lehigh Valley Line. As you know, this plan calls for a second track to be constructed along each of these lines. It seems clear to me that this additional track will have an adverse effect on public safety, traffic congestion and the quality of life in our neighborhoods.

As I mentioned to you previously, we are currently trying to address the problem of train engineers sounding their horns as they approach rail crossings disturbing hundreds of nearby residents. Despite the stalled efforts to curb this problem at the federal level, we recognize the serious concerns our residents have, and we are moving forward at our own expense with the construction of safe grade crossings that we believe will eventually eliminate the need for train crews to sound their horns indiscriminately. As you are well aware, this solution is dependent upon the passage of new FRA regulations. The construction of a double track, and the subsequent increase in overall system capacity, will in Edison. likely lead to additional train traffic, further exacerbating this quality of life issue.

In addition, grade crossings negatively impact traffic on our roadways. In recent years there has been a steady increase in the number and length of trains causing delays for those motorists stopped at our crossings. In many cases these trains stretch for a mile or more. Any further increase in train length or volume with the addition of a second track would be detrimental to our already congested roadways, and dangerous when public safety personnel are delayed when responding to emergencies.

I respectfully call for a public hearing on this matter immediately, so that the Department of Transportation can hear from our residents firsthand on this matter. I would like to offer the use of Edison's Municipal Complex and any other facilities that are at my disposal to better facilitate a dialogue between Edison's residents and the Department of Transportation. Until this happens, I would ask that no further action be taken to formalize plans on this project.

While I wholeheartedly support your efforts to reduce traffic volume on our roadways to ease congestion, I cannot support the relocation of this problem from our major roadways to the back yards of our residential neighborhoods.

As mayor, I will do whatever is necessary to preserve the sanctity of our residential neighborhoods

> GEORGE A. SPADORO Mayor of Edison

Mail carriers did a yeoman's job

On May 10 letter carriers completed an arduous task that benefited every soup kitchen and food pantry in Middlesex County. The continual resorting of the mail on their trucks, so they could continue to pick up food that residents had left at their mailboxes, added hours to their day.

Hunger in America is at the highest level in years! The donations to organizations who distribute food are at the lowest level in years! We are in a crisis situation!

In the past food pantries have served the working poor, senior citizens and homeless. However, with the downtown of the economy, a new group of clients are now coming to food pantries - the professional person who has been downsized and his unemployment benefits exhausted.

How many people in Middlesex County stop to think? The family next door may be going to bed hungry tonight.

To all the residents of Edison who donated food, and to the post office employees who collected the food, thank you!

JACQUELINE H. GOEDESKY Coordinator, Food Ministry St. James Episcopal Church

Don't punish compassionate folks

The following letter was sent to South Plainfield Mayor Daniel Gallagher. A copy was sent to the newspaper by the letter writer.

The article on stray cats that prompted discussion of a limit on the number of pets in a household calls for a response. I was born in South Plainfield and still have friends and family there. They brought the article to my attention and, frankly, I was outraged! The efforts of those who give their time and energy (not to mention expense) are obviously not appreciated.

Mr. Gross is grossly misinformed if he believes the solution is to "give the cats away." It is the pet owner who "discards" his/her pet rather than getting it spayed or neutered who has caused this problem to escalate to its present state.

The "resident" referred to is fighting an uphill battle against the overpopulation of stray cats, which is a national problem. Animal rescue groups across the country have been encouraging the trap/spay/release solution. It works! No starving kittens! What compassionate person can observe a starving animal and not give it something to eat? I pray that they do! At least this "resident" is making an effort! More power to him/her!

I am a senior citizen and finally have time to get involved in animal rescue. Two years ago I became aware of a stray cat problem in a section of South Plainfield. The residents in the area were at their wits end after asking for help and receiving none from the usual sources. Over a period of three months, I trapped/spayed/neutered/released 22 cats. Those that were adoptable got good homes. The rest were released in the same neighborhood which is the only home they knew. Cats are very territorial and will stay in the same area even if they are starving and must resort to mice and birds for a meal (which is very unhealthy for them). The released cats are now living out their lives being fed by compassionate residents. They have had all the appropriate shots and are healthy and happy. If a trapped cat is found to have an ailment, it is put down. Only healthy cats are released.

I hope the above has given some insight into the ongoing efforts of the animal rescue groups and that they will be encouraged rather than threatened with fines.

To The Editor:

I watched the Edison Memorial Day Parade pass in front of my home until a woman in camouflage fatigues dressed her 6-year-old child in the same outfit and gave her a rifle to carry. I got sick to my stomach and went back inside.

A few days later, your newspaper ran the child's picture on your front page. Did you somehow think this was cute? It was not! It was obscenity. It was abomination. And, because children are holy, it was sacrilege. This child's parents outfitted her in the accoutrements of hate and anger, and you emblazoned their shameful act with captions of honor and

Jersey Boy

Summertime may not be what it used to be in New Jersey.
You could go north to the mount tains and relax in the cool shade by a sparkling lake. Hikes through pristine woods produced memorable epiphanies of nature, revelations you wondered about at night while lying in the wet grass and watching for shooting stars in the clear, crisp sky.

Or you could go south and east to the Jersey Shore, where the redeeming sea breezes slice through the oppressive heat of the cities and sub-

Sandcastles were built on the beach and the only worry about swimming in the ocean was the twohour wait after lunch. You could discover how the early non-portentous songs of Bruce Springsteen were accurate blurbs for a travel brochure. The boardwalk was a boulevard of delights and the soothing rhythm of the uncomplaining waves lulled you into a deep, peaceful sleep, perfect for a vacation.

You had the choice of two small paradises in your own backyard.

That choice is being threatened. New Jersey's suburban sprawl has reached the mountains of the north. Once-deserted country roads are now choked with traffic, as commuters hurry to and from their jobs in the "original" suburbs in Essex, Morris, Bergen, Middlesex and Somerset counties. The calm sounds of nature are jolted by machinery clearing earth and chewing trees; the buzz of mosquitoes has been replaced by the growl of chainsaws. At night you can no longer see the Milky Wav; the glow from the creeping development films the sky with an orange filter. You might as well sit at home and watch a nature program on The Discovery Channel.

The Shore is no longer a refuge from New Jersey's other problems. Understaffed police departments have to deal with burdensome traffic, rowdy hooligans and a crime rate that rises with the temperature. In some towns rents have risen so ferociously that it may be cheaper for a family to spend a vacation at Disney World. Some Shore towns which were once popular family destinations -Keansburg and Asbury Park - are now no better than blighted ghost towns. (More than 50 years ago my parents spent the first night of their honeymoon in Asbury Park; a newlywed couple would be branded insane if they dared to do that today.) Though the ocean is cleaner, the weekend tide still brings the scum to the streets of Seaside Heights. And no matter how many casinos are built or new tunnels are dug, Atlantic City, beyond the glitz, is still terribly

The state of the Shore and the mountains is symptomatic of what has gone wrong in New Jersey over the past decade or so. The state has enjoyed phenomenal growth, despite the present doom and gloom. Yet, like the gold rush towns of the West, New Jersey was not prepared for the

As housing costs soared, the inexpensive Shore and mountains changed from golden resort areas to tarnished suburbs. Primitive cabins on Lake Hopatcong suddenly became year-around residences for those who had made a killing in the market before the bubble burst. Country roads suddenly have traffic jams. On every corner there is a dead deer and either a CVS or Rite-Aid.

It's time for New Jersey and its politicians on all levels to take a good look at the literal state of confusion around them. No one can argue that the overall standard of living has increased in the state, but what has been the cost? Though the state has finally made the preservation of open space and farmland a priority, more needs to be done. With more and more land being developed, it is imperative that more teeth be put into the state's master plan for proper land use. Local municipalities starved for tax dollars should not be forced into zoning to attract businesses at the expense of their residents' quality of life. Development at the Shore should face stringent regulation; the Shore should be considered and treated as one of the state's most valuable assets. We live on a delicate balance economic growth versus environmental protection. The equation can be solved easily; the cost of preventing environmental disasters is less than the cost of rectifying them.

It's time to pull in the reins on bounty hunters

By PETER J. BARNES JR.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Gun slinging and rogue policing was common back in the United States' Wild West period. Citizens often gave their blessing to vigilante justice. Without a credible law enforcement system to protect them, frightened citizens looked to vigilantes to catch everything from the mundane cattle thieves to murderers. If a criminal fled, vigilantes would enlist the help of bounty hunters, who would use whatever means necessary in the apprehension of the fleeing individual. This system worked well back in the days when Ulysses S. Grant was president and when cowboys and Indians were fighting on horseback.

In the post-Wild West era, however, local, state, and federal law enforcement officers replaced the role of vigilantes. The role of bounty hunters, unfortunately, has not changed in the past 130 years and now poses unnecessary risks to the lives of innocent people. Regrettably, bounty hunters in New Jersey continue to be unlicensed, unsupervised and undisciplined — they are a force unto establish licensing standards for bounty hunters to be consistent with the New Jersey Private Detective Act of 1939. These standards will protect the lives of innocent people and require proper background checks for bounty hunters who are conducting what is essentially police work. Certainly, police officers are required to undergo extensive training while public administrators strictly evaluate their performance and hold them accountable for their actions. Bounty hunters, therefore, should be held to a higher standard than they were in the Wild West. This is common sense legislation and a look at several disturbing incidents involving bounty hunters clearly illustrates the need for

On May 28, 2003, for example, Kenneth Wickliff, a bounty hunter, entered the South Jersey town of East Greenwich searching for a fugitive and was subsequently arrested after attempting to force his way into the home of an innocent woman named Stephanie Jones. The bounty hunter was in search of Jones' son who had skipped bail after being released legislation (A-239) that would woman advised the man that her son was not there, he tried to force his way in. On June 3, 2003, a jury convicted Wickliff of criminal trespassing, a crime punishable by up to 18 months in jail. Gloucester County Assistant Prosecutor Mary Pyffer said, "It teaches bounty hunters that they have to work within the confines of the law." I agree. This case and the countless other examples of bounty hunters endangering the safety of innocent people proves that legislation aimed at reform is necessary.

Take the case of an unsuspecting Trenton man who was incorrectly identified by bounty hunters as a fugitive. According to news reports, two bounty hunters, armed with handguns, paraded into a Pennsylvania town in search of a fugitive. The two men tracked a car containing the innocent Trenton man down Martin Luther King Boulevard waving for the man to pull over. As the car pulled over, the two-armed bounty hunters pointed their guns at the victim only to realize that they had been tracking the wrong person. The surprised bounty hunters immediately fled only to be picked up by police and charged with aggravated assault and possession Consequently, I have proposed on drug charges, but when the of a weapon for an unlawful pur-

Death was avoided in this incident, but not all cases turn out so well. In September 1997 in Arizona, for example, bounty hunters killed two innocent people when they mistook the victims for fugitives that they had been track-

The troubling number of incidents that has occurred in both New Jersey and throughout the country has also sparked legal action in New Jersey courts. In January 2002, Superior Court Judge Reginald Stanton ruled against a prospective bounty hunter who had applied for a gun permit. The would-be bounty hunter was applying for the permit under the protection of a 130year-old Supreme Court ruling that claimed bounty hunters had the right to chase down a fugitive by any means necessary. Recognizing the inherent danger involved in allowing bounty hunters legal access to carry weapons, Judge Stanton ruled that the 1872 ruling came at a time when professional law enforcement agencies were rare and is "simply not good law today."

Despite Judge Stanton's landmark ruling, no bill has passed the New Jersey Legislature to curb the illegal and dangerous actions of bounty hunters. Fortunately, Assembly Bill 239, which requires licensing standards for bounty hunters to be consistent with that of New Jersey Private Detectives, swiftly passed the New Jersey Assembly on Feb. 11, 2002 and offers a meaningful chance at reform. Action now needs to be taken in the Senate Law & Public Safety Committee, where this bill has languished for more than a bounty hunters need to work within the confines of the law. It should also prove that we no longer live in the Wild West period of American history and that an 1872 Supreme Court ruling should not protect the hazardous and unlawful actions of irresponsible bounty hunters.

Why 3/4 of Homesellers Don't Get the Price They Want for Their Home

Homeowners- A new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

This industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become increasingly less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of homesellers don't get what they want for their home and become disillusioned and worse, financially disadvantaged when they put their home on the market.

As this report uncovers, most homesellers make 7 deadly mistakes that cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable.

In answer to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a free special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and for Top Dollar". To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your free copy of this report, call 1-888-305-3085 and enter ID#1000. You can call anytime, 24 hours Call NOW to find out how you can get the most money for your home.

Gentle man's death leaves void in life of the son who loved him

By MIKE DEAK

On those long ago days when snow closed school, my father took me for rides on the deserted white roads around Neshanic Station. He told my mother he wanted to show 'me how high the drifts were; that was the cover story. He was going to have fun.

When we reached an empty stretch of straight road, he would deliberately slam on the brakes, sending the 1963 Mercury Meteor into a gentle whirl. We never hit a telephone pole or got stuck in a snowbank; he knew what he was doing and never panicked. With a conspiratorial smile, he said I should never tell my mother or Aunt Margaret what he had just done. It was a precious secret between father and son.

It was also the most precious gift I ever received from him. He never seem to panic, whether it was a blown fuse, a regurgitating toilet or another emergency around the house, a car breaking down on a vacation in the middle of a thunderstorm on the Florida Turnpike or leading the Neshanic Volunteer Fire Company in fighting a barn fire. Every time it snowed this terribly glorious winter I was never nervous when I had to face the roads. Every time something goes magnificently wrong in the newsroom of this paper - a semi-daily occurrence — I never panic (though I may use words I didn't learn from my father.) And even when an indoor grill selfimmolated in my kitchen 10 days ago, I kept my cool.

It's amazing to consider how many calamities my father endured in his life. Driving on snow-covered roads was the least of the challenges he had to face. His mother died of heat stroke when he was just a child. His father died when he was a teenager; he was walking home with Christmas presents on Christmas Eve when he was killed by a bus. The Depression cut short my father's education; he left school after eighth grade to work wherever he could, whether it was checking the rails on the Lehigh Valley railroad or a farm in Hillsborough. Though he was the champion speller at Liberty School, he couldn't go to Somerville High School because his clothes weren't good enough. He was an intelligent man; in fact, like all fathers, he grew smarter as I grew older.

Though he didn't have much formal education, he had a worldly sense and perspective, a simple sophistication born in the experience of crazy and turbulent times. He saw the United States in the Civilian Conservation Corps and he saw the world in the Army during World War II. As one neighbor told my mother, it was always a pleasure to work with my father at the polls on Election Day because he told World War II stories that weren't boring — and he never saw combat. When he told a war story there was never exaggeration, embellishment or self-aggrandizement; it was just a matter of facts. Until I wrote this paragraph, I had not realized how much that cool and laconic style influenced my career as a reporter. It is another precious gift.

Though he could tell a story well, my father was not a demonstrative man. He knew actions were more valuable than words; he had little use, to substitute a more polite word, for blarney. He knew it was the small gestures that make a genuine difference. In a play I wrote for college, I had the thinlydisguised stand-in for myself explain to his long-suffering girlfriend what love is in the end-game of their frustrating relationship. In the struggling rant of someone not yet literate in love, he explains expressions of love are not dramatic. Instead, he says, "Love is something simple. It's my father washing my mother's hair in the kitchen sink." My classmates didn't know what to think of the line. How could I tell them it was - and is the most truthful sentence I have ever written. Without words you could always trust my father's love.

That was why, when we learned on my parents' 56th wedding anniversary last October that he had cancer, the pain pierced our hearts like an icicle. He had always been there to fix whatever needed to be fixed; we could always rely upon him to make things right. And now we had to face the sad fact he wasn't going to be there. A few weeks later, as we waited in an examining room for the oncologist to deliver what we already knew was bad news, he told my mother and me about how on leave in World War II he visited the mysterious Blue Grotto on Capri. His eyes sparkled and his voice strengthened as he told us about visiting the cave in a rowboat through a narrow opening in the rocky coast. "It was the most amazing blue I have ever seen," he said. I swallowed the tears as I realized there was so much about my father's life that I would never

In the end, my father did not follow the advice Dylan Thomas gave to his own dying father. Dad did not rage against the dying of the light; he went gently into that good night. He conducted himself with amazing good grace; the nurses were genuinely impressed by his kindness, his politeness. He had a rare and quiet charm that glistened more as he became older and finally enjoyed a retirement free of the challenges of his earlier years. In the final months, he never complained; we never knew if he was ever in pain.

He never complained on the golf course: that's where he spent most of his retirement and where we spent most of our time together. For nearly 20 years he played the Somerset County courses with his Cyanamid buddies two or three times a week whenever there wasn't snow on the ground. It was the perfect game for him. Golf is the intersection of shaping your own destiny in harmony with factors beyond your control. You see, each round of golf is a life journey. You start with a blank scorecard and you try to do the best you can to handle the hazards thrown into your path. It's a test of character and my father always passed that test, just as he passed every test the fates had thrown his way. He played with enthusiasm and with the unflagging faith that today's round was going to be better than yesterday's. There was no better role model.

He was a gentle man and a gentleman.

He was a good man. There's nothing better that can

Local athletes shine in Special Olympics

By CHERYL ORSON

CORRESPONDENT

Gov. James E. McGreevey agrees Edison residents and South Plainfield High School students Jason DeSantis and Dave Micabalo are good sports and very special athletes.

congratulated McGreevey DeSantis, 18, and Micabalo, 20, on their winning performances during the state Special Olympics games last weekend in Trenton.

"It was very exciting," said DeSantis of meeting McGreevey. "I never met him before. It was absolutely amazing."

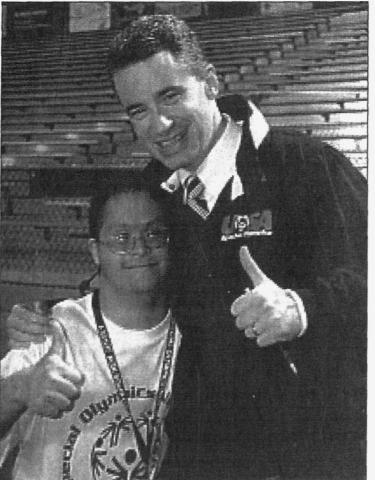

"It was great," said Micabalo, referring both to the games and McGreevey's appearance.

This is the fifth year DeSantis and Macabalo have competed in the Special Olympics. DeSantis' team took the bronze in the relay race while Micabalo took home an individual gold medal in the standing long jump. Unfortunately for these competitors, the 100-meter dash and softball throw were canceled due to

The two train year-round to qualify. In order to qualify for the state games, the athletes must first medal in the county games.

In the county games held earlier last month, DeSantis took an individual gold in the softball throw and two silvers in the 100meter dash and standing long jump. Micabala took home an individual gold in the standing long jump, a team silver in the relay race and two individual bronzes for the 100-meter dash and softball throw.

The medals, though, aren't really what matter to these ath- DeSantis, who said he likes the to run.

Sunscreen not just for summer fun any more

(ARA) - Though many Americans take precautions to protect their skin from damaging ultra violet rays during the warmer months of the year, many may not realize that the sun can be damaging year round.

"Americans young and old spend countless hours in the sun year round and may not realize the importance of wearing a good sunscreen daily," says Julie McKenzie, Wal-Mart's buyer of skincare products. "Whether playing with the kids in the backyard, walking the dog, or taking an extended car trip, protecting your skin from damaging rays year round is critical."

As the prevalence of skin cancer is on the rise in the United States, McKenzie offers the following tips to ensure Americans are educated when it comes to skincare safety:

 Use sunscreen every day and reapply often, especially after perspiring, swimming, or drying off with a towel. Many Americans forget to reapply sunscreen as neces-

- Always apply lotion prior to heading outdoors, even during the cooler months of the year.

 For adequate sun protection, the American Academy of Dermatology and the Sun Safety Alliance recommend using a broad spectrum sunscreen year round with an SPF of at least 14. They also recommend an SPF of 30 for

 Follow the directions on the bottle and apply liberally and evenly over all areas of the body, while taking care not to miss the neck, ears, and lips.

 Look for newer products like Coppertone SPECTRA 3 sunscreen to add to the skincare arsenal. This lotion deflects UVA/UVB rays, scatters UV rays to enhance sunscreen's efficiency, and absorbs UV rays before they reach the skin.

- To fully protect against harmful rays, always wear sunscreen, UV blocking sunglasses, tightly woven clothing like long-sleeved shirts and pants, and widebrimmed hats.

- If possible, avoid the sun between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the sun's rays are at their strongest.

a weekly planner

Planning ahead for the year? Looking for things to do with the kids, grandparents or friends? Want to keep it all in one neatplace? Well look no further than New Jersey's new 2003 Weekly Planner of Events, produced by the NJ Commerce & Economic Growth Commission and the Office of Travel & Tourism.

"This handsomely illustrated year long guide is a unique way to stay abreast of interesting happenings in the Garden State, while maintaining your own "to do" calendar," said Nancy Byrne, executive director of the Office of Travel & Tourism.

Presented in "week-at-aglance" format, the spiral bound planner lists corresponding events on each weekly calendar page with dates and spaces for individual notations. The state's diverse ethnic make-up is reflected in its wide range of cultural events, from Japanese KODO presentations in several locations to St Ann's Italian Festival in Hoboken (home of Frank Sinatra), Victorian Days in Belvidere and Cape May and an American Indian Arts Festival on the Rankokus Reservation.

New Jerseyians are noted for over-the-top celebrations of every seasonal holiday and, if there's no holiday, there's always a special occasion or event. These include an Open House at the Pequest Trout Hatchery, a Shad Festival in Lambertville (celebrating the return of shad to the Delaware River), and the World Series of Birding at various locations (New Jersey is a major fly-through for many different species).

Not including events for holidays such as the Fourth of July (for which there are many), a sampling of diverse offerings include the New Jersey Home Show, a Sherlock Holmes Weekend in Cape May, the Passion Play in Union City, theatrical performances throughout the state, jazz and blues festivals; antiques, arts and crafts fairs and exhibitions, county fairs, heritage festivals, garden tours, Civil War Days in Clinton, the Cherry Blossom Festival in Newark's Branch Brook Park (little known fact: New Jersey has more cherry trees than Washington DC), New Jersey Folk Festival at Rutgers University in New Brunswick

For a copy of the Weekly Planner of Events or its companion publication, the 2003 New Jersey Travel Guide, contact the New Jersey Office of Travel & Tourism, at 1-800-VISITNJ (847-4865); or check the website, www.visitnj.org living, now is the perfect time of year to lace up your sneakers and get in tune with Mother Nature. Walking is the way to go and New Jersey has plenty of opportunities to sightsee and learn while engaging in an activity that suits all interests and abilities.

"I've come to take my walking seriously, part of my job is to know the activities that would be of interest to tourists in my state,"

With all the focus on healthy said Nancy Byrne, executive dens for meandering along beauti-ving, now is the perfect time of director of the New Jersey Office fully landscaped pathways and of Travel & Tourism. "I think it goes without saying that I've been happily surprised by the interesting and unexpected places that walking has taken me, from towns and cities, such as Newark, Trenton, Morristown and Jersey City to natural habitats from the Pinelands to the Palisades and to the mountains and forests in between. There are glorious gar-beaches that are solitary in winter, sun-drenched and lively in summer, with warm white sand that massages bare feet. I'd be hard pressed to choose a favorite area; I just love the differences."

New Jersey has trails that follow Revolutionary War and Underground Railroad paths. The Appalachian Trail runs all the

the state, from the Delaware lent wineries along this way, River to the Hudson. The Lenne which make for tasty little Lenape also runs across the state, through the central section. If the ocean captivates, you can beachwalk or take boardwalks that run for miles, even connecting towns from Deal to Spring Lake and in between. The Delaware Canal towpath takes you along the river, through rural hills and small old villages, like Milford, Frenchtown way across the northern border of and Byram. There are some excel-

which make for tasty little

Where to walk depends on what you like. Do you prefer vigorous group hikes? Or, do you prefer casual walks alone or with select companions? Walking and hiking clubs throughout the state welcome visitors and provide fun ways to meet new people. Several books are devoted to New Jersey

For instance, the New York New Jersey Trail Conference is an excellent source for hikes that range from easy walks along the shoreline or flatlands to climbs through mountain ranges like the Kittatinnies, Ramapos, Palisades and Watchungs. While the organization doesn't do guided hikes, it does publish maps and excellent guidebooks like the New Jersey Walk Book. Call them at 201-512-9348; or visit their website,

More folks driving to vacation destinations

(ARA) — There will be plenty of Americans hitting the road this suggestions for a successful trip: summer. With stable gas prices and plane travel getting more complicated, it is estimated that a large percentage of families will spend a portion of their summer vacations traveling by car in 2003.

"We are seeing a lot of people staying in our own backyard — either for a long weekend or a two-week trip across the country," says Erin Duffy, spokesperson for AAA. "Requests for our TripTiks are up 5 percent over last year nationally," she adds.

Duffy notes that there are discounts throughout the travel industry right now, including price breaks on hotels and attractions, which may be driving some of the increase in road travel.

"It's a good time for car trips right now," agrees Jodi Moulzolf of Lund International, an automotive accessories company. "And being prepared will make your trip that much more enjoyable."

suggestions for a successful trip:

Before you leave, let the kids help with the planning," says Duffy. Because kids are so computer savvy now, it's easy for them to go online and find attractions and other points of interest they want to see. They will be more involved and excited about the trip, and the parents won't have to do all the planning.

Bring along things for the kids so they can enjoy their time in the car. Maybe a favorite pillow or blanket, deck of cards, family books-on-tape, portable snacks and drinks, and a secret goodie bag for when they are bored with everything else.

Make sure your car is ready for extended driving. "Bugs splashing on your windshield can really affect your visibility," says Moulzolf. "We suggest outfitting your vehicle with a Bugflector to protect it, not just from bugs but from expensive nicks and scratches too." The Bugflector helps prevent damage to your hood, windshield and fenders and can be

Another item that may be useful for families on trips is a Cargo Liner. This tough, non-slip, rubberized liner protects the cargo area of your vehicle. It has raised sides that allow it to trap up to one gallon of liquid, so clean up is easy, no matter what happens to Moulzolf suggests one solution to the problem: a Ventvisor. This device easily snaps into a car's window channel creating a small "visor" over the top of the window. This way you can safely leave windows slightly open in a parked car. It also keeps out rain and allows fresh air in while you are driving.

America "All over the nation, bed and breakfast innkeepers are making plans for honeymooners and couples in search of a memorable anniversary getaway," says Randy Fought, CEO of Bed & Breakfast Inns ONLINE. "They're offering extras like flowers, chocolates, champagne, whirlpool tubs, candlelit dinners and carriage rides."

The Web site dedicates a section to hundreds of honeymoon and anniversary packages, as well as more than 500 romantic getaways. Here are some highlights of the romantic packages available at bed and breakfasts around the country;

Brookhirst Farm Bed Breakfast, Snowville, N. H. This 200-year-old, antique-filled farmhouse boasts a view of the entire Presidential Mountain Range, is surrounded by 50 acres of woods: and has its own trout-stocked pond. You can hold the wedding here too in a scenic, open field near the pond. Innkeeper Victoria Murphy is a Justice of the Peace and a wedding planner and can arrange for catering, flowers and music. Haborlight Guesthouse Bed & Breakfast, Cape Carteret, N.C. Located on a peninsula on the central North Carolina coast, and surrounded on three sides by water, this secluded inn is perfect for a romantic celebration. With a stay of two or more nights, anniversary and honeymoon couples are greet. ed with complimentary champagne and chocolate truffles. Innkeepers will even pack a picnic for a private day trip to one of the nearby islands to explore the pristine beaches and hiking trails. All suites feature twoperson jacuzzis, and/or fireplaces. From their rooms, guests have views of Bogue Sound, the Intracoastal Waterway and the occasional porpoise or river otter.

Conifer House Bed & Breakfast Inn, Flagstaff, Ariz. You'll be welcomed with champagne, and strawa berries drenched in chocolate at this quiet, Craftsman-style retreat on the edge of a forest. Visitors can relax by the fire or in the spacious whirlpool tub in each room, or explore hiking and mountain biking trails, and the upscale stores and antique shops of Flagstaff. The Lowell Observatory is nearby and the Grand Canyon is just 80 miles. to the north.

The Christmas House Bed and Breakfast Inn, Ouray, Colo. This restored Victorian mansion looks out over the San Juan Mountains. The honeymoon/anniversary package includes a jeep tour for two, or one full day lift ticket for two, dinner for two, and two 1/2 price hot springs pool passes Pearson's Pond Luxury Inn and Adventure Spa, Juneau, Alaska. This mountainside inn, perched on the edge of a pond, has been called one of the "most romantic hotel destinations in the world." The innkeepers can arrange an out-ofthe ordinary wedding using one of their spectacular locations: a gazebo with views of the glacier and garden, or a flower-filled floating dock with the mountains as a backdrop. In summer, visitors can walk or dog sled on the glacier, ride the tram, paddle a kayak or explore hiking and biking trails. In winter, ice skate out the front door, crosscountry or downhill ski and perhaps catch a glimpse of the Northern Lights.

Unlike many sites, Bed & Breakfast Inns ONLINE includes detailed descriptions of properties, including photographs, and organizes them according to location to make trip planning easier. Also included are more than 3,000 special packages divided into categories such as "family," "biking," "Mother's Day," "last-minute specials," and of course "romantic get-

Tips can assure your barbecue won't go up in flames

(WMS) — Warmer weather signals a return to outdoor cooking, but before firing up the grill, weekend warriors should observe a few simple precautions to ensure that their backvard barbecue bashes don't go up in flames. According to a leading homeowners insurance company, casual cookouts can turn dangerous - and sometimes deadly - if safety is ignored.

"We routinely see dozens of fire-related claims throughout the spring and summer because of simple carelessness," said Carol Anderson, who manages MetLife® Auto & Home's nationhomeowner adjusting unit. "Considering safety before firing up the grill can help guarantee that your meal and your cookout are well done."

Follow these easy pointers to make grilling safer:

Keep barbecue grills on a level sprface away from the house, garage and, most importantly, children and pets. If grilling on your patio, make sure that all furniture and accessories are far from the grill.

Blame Sirius for dog days

The term "dog days of summer" describes the hottest, sultriest period of the season, typically between early July and early September.

They are named for Sirius. the Dog Star, which rises and sets with the sun during the summer in the northern hemisphere.

Ancient Romans believed that the heat of Sirius combined with the heat of the sun to create a double whammy of seasonal heat

McCarter hosting an opera festival

PRINCETON — This summer, Opera Festival of New Jersey continues the tradition of artistic excellence with its renditions of Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri," Tchaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin, and Berg's "Wozzeck." The 2003 season runs from Sunday, June 29, until Saturday, July 19, at the McCarter Theatre Center.

This year, Opera Festival of New Jersey celebrates its 20th anniversary with three brand new productions. Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri" honors the genius of Italian comic opera; Tchaikovsky's "Eugene Onegin" pays homage to the great Russian dramatic opera tradition; and Berg's "Wozzeck" is thought to be many opera-lovers' vote for the greatest 20th century opera.

Single tickets are now on sale at Opera Festival of New Jersey's ticket office located at 5 Hulfish Street in Palmer Square. Tickets range in price from $25 to $90 and visitors interested in purchasing tickets may either visit Opera Festival of New Jersey's ticket office, Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., or telephone (609) 919-0199 or toll-free (866)

"This festival is among the nation's leading summer opera festivals and offers performances that feature some of the finest opera talents in the world, many of whom have performed on the stages of American and European opera companies," said Nancy Byrne, executive director of the New Jersey Office of Travel and Tourism.

The following is the festival's schedule of events:
Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri":

Sunday, June 29 at 2:00 p.m.; Saturday, July 5 at 8:00 p.m.; Friday, July 11 at 8:00 p.m.: Tuesday, July 15 at 7:30 p.m.;

Thursday, July 17 at 7:30 p.m.,

STAFF WRITER

SOUTH PLAINFIELD - Saving their best performance for their final one, the Chiefs once again showed they have one of the best girls relay squads in the state.

With senior Kathy Anderson supplying a 57.1-second quarter-mile third leg, Piscataway High School claimed third-place honors in the 1600-meter relay at the Track & Field Meet of Champions June 5 at South Plainfield High School.

Freshman Michelle Losey, senior Quiyana Johnson, Anderson and junior Tramaine Shaw combined to run a 3:51.28, which missed top honors by a little more than a second, but the time was good enough to establish a new Piscataway and Middlesex County

Shaw also medaled in the 100-meter high hurdles by placing fourth, while Metuchen's Xavier McFarlane picked up a medal for placing seventh in the 400 meters.

Winslow (3:50.21) and Eastern (3:21.18) rallied past Piscataway in the final 400 meters of the relay, but the showing by the Chiefs was still impressive as they bettered the 3:52.2 mark set in 1995 by Piscataway at the Meet of Champions.

"It was a great performance by those girls. They really went after it," said Head Coach Pete Bucchino. "The goals were to be in the hunt, which we were, and get under the school record and we did that. The girls were Shaw, who qualified in the 400 hurdles but passed on the event to be ready for the relay, also proved to be one of the top high hurdlers in the state with her time of 14.38 leaving her behind only three other runners, including nemesis Kim Henry of Old Bridge, who was second in 14.15 to Porsha Dobson (13.5) of Kent Place.

"That was an outstanding performance by Tramaine in the high hurdles," Bucchino said. "Those were two scholarship athletes who finished one-two. For her to run a 14.38 and place was great for her.'

Metuchen's McFarlane, who qualified in three events individually, opted to run only the 400 to be rested for the relay. McFarlane ran a 49.9 to take seventh, and then ran the third leg on the Bulldogs' relay quartet.

Luke Edwards, Corey Jordon, McFarlane and Tyler Jones produced a 3:25.69 to finish second in their heat to take 15th overall.

"It wasn't our best time this season, but it was a good time," Head Coach Marty Holleran said. "I think Xavier thought he could have done better in the 400. His time tried something different and it didn't work as well as he would have liked."

South Plainfield's Jeff Williams caught a bad break in his final meet as the senior was spiked during the first lap of the seeded 800meter race, lost his shoe and struggled home in 1:57.9, a full four seconds off his best time

"Jeff was pretty disappointed to say the least," Tiger Head Coach Scott Horowitz said. "It was definitely a tough way to finish up his career, but he was the sectional champion in the long jump and he's got his state championship from the winter."

The Metuchen and South Plainfield boys both came away with GMC divisional champions this spring with unbeaten seasons as did the Metuchen girls with the Metuchen boys contining an unbeaten streak that began in 1989.

"It was a good season for us. We ran well," Holleran said. "We were undefeated in the division, we finished third in the conference relays and the championship meet, we won the sectionals for the 11th straight year, which is a state record, we won our heat at the Penn Relays, and we were third in Group I. It was a very successful season."

South Plainfield, meanwhile, captured its second straight title White Division, going 8-0 this year.

"Overall it was a pretty decent season," Horowitz said. "We lost the Grevious brothers (to graduation), but the sprinters really picked it up. I'm very, very happy with the way the kids performed this year. It was a

PISCATAWAY - During a season in which they dominated the conference, the only regret for the Chiefs might be not getting a chance to test themselves outside of the GMC.

Putting together a 19-3 campaign, the Piscataway High baseball squad swept the Red Division and GMC Tournament championships for the first time, but when it came to facing outside competition there really wasn't a lot to determine how the Chiefs stacked up.

With this spring's continual bad weather canceling every non-conference game, Piscataway managed to play only two non-league games — both in the state tournament and came away with a split.

"I was very happy with the season," Head Coach Bib Giberna said. "For the kids' sake I ther in the state tournament because I Brunswick 8-0 before rain caused a restart, thought we had one of the best teams around. We felt we could beat anyone when we played

"All of us were disappointed we didn't get to play those (non-conference games). We wanted to play those additional games so we could learn more about ourselves and do some experimenting, but we always played a meaningful game. I can't remember a season where we didn't play a non-conference game."

While the loss in the state tourney might nag at the Chiefs for a time, they also have to feel a bit fortunate to come away with two titles when it for a short while it appeared which the Chiefs went on to win 9-5. That bit of fortune prevented an even bigger regret than the 8-3 loss to Steinert in the Central Jersey Group IV title game.

"I think winning the (GMC) tournament was very important for us, both to the coaches and the players," Giberna said. "If we had lost that game I think it would have taken away a lot from what we accomplished.

"We came close last year when I thought we had the best team. I think we had the best team this year and we should have won. I think everyone would have been disappointed

This season's edition of the Chiefs will go down as one of the finest in school history, but where it ranked during Giberna's tenure was something he could not determine.

"It's one of the best teams I've had I'll say that," he said. "They've all had their different personalities. I can remember three or four teams that were very, very talented but

EDISON — Despite putting an entirely new team on the field this spring, the Hawks once again proved to be tough to beat. Unlike recent seasons, however, the J.P. Stevens High softball squad saw a number of close games go in the other direction and as a result its 15-12 record might have been better with a hit here or a break there.

"On the whole I was pleased with our season," Head Coach Pete Catenacci said. "We were able to compete with everyone as always, but we came out on the shorter end more than we have in the past. We played Old Bridge three times. We won 1-0 and lost twice 2-1, and they were county

"The other factor was the last six years I had a dominant pitcher. With Becky (Garibotto) and Rachel (Seaton) we certainly had two strong pitchers good enough to keep us in the game, but they didn't dominate like our last two the entire lineup will return next season when the Hawks figure to be a very difficult team to beat, and should make a bid to reclaim the GMC-Red Division and GMT Tournament championships.

"This group can be as good as it wants to be," Catenacci said. "If they all learn to play like (shortstop) Stephanie Marciano then we're certainly going to be a force to be reckoned with. Stephanie is a great role model. It's great having someone out there who can show them how to do it.

"Being young, the kids will grow physically, mentally and emotionally. I think as far as emotions go Becky and Rachel showed a lot of poise in their first year. They're going to gets stronger and throw harder, so they'll get better.

HIGHLAND PARK - For a while the Owls really had things going in their favor, but then the rain came and they hit a wall.

With eight senior starters looking for a great final campaign, the Highland Park High School baseball team certainly started out in that direction as the Owls won 11 of their first 12 games. But when bad weather began wiping out games as well as practices, Highland Park fell out of sync, and while it remained competitive, the momentum it had gained in April was lost in May as it lost six of its final nine deciHIGHLAND PARK BASEBALI

What Piscataway did best this spring was hit the ball — or rather

With all due respect to ace Carlton Smith, who went 8-0 with a 2.15 earned run average, the Chiefs ripped the ball at a .393 clip as a team with five batters owning averages .413 or higher and most pitchers could have won with that

Shortstop Andy Campana led the way with a .507 mark, and despite batting out of the No. 2 spot in the order led the team in RBI with 38. He also topped the Chiefs with five home runs, in slugging percentage at .787 and with 36 runs scored, while he was third with 12 extra-base hits. Second baseman Eric Young and leftfielder Derrick McCain both finished with .466 averages with Young collecting 14 extra-base hits, scoring 14 times, driving in 24 runs and stealing 20 bases. McCain, who belted two homers in the GMCT final and led the Chiefs with seven doubles, drove in 33 runs and scored 30 times while banging out 13 extra-base hits.

David Gerena, a sophomore who came on to earn a starting job in the second half, batted .455, while right fielder Brandon Renkart hit .434 with 25 RBI, 29 runs scored and 19 stolen bases. First baseman Marcus finished at .413 with 23 RBI and 11 extra-base hits.

Catcher Ray Rose batted .356 and drove in 20 runs, while center fielder Andre Barber hit .339.

Smith, meanwhile, pitched 65 innings and allowed 60 hits while striking out 67 and walking 24. Matt Goumas was 4-0 with a 1.75 ERA, while Dave Hemmerly finished with a 4-2 record and a 2.46 ERA. McArther's, went 3-2 with a 5.25 ERA.

With senior starters graduating along with its pitching staff with the exception of Smith, Piscataway will have some holes to fill, but Giberna, believes the potential is there to be successful again.

"I never feel like it's going to be a rebuilding year," he said. "If the younger kids learn what they're supposed to and they work hard then we should be fine. We still have a good pitcher coming back. We have an 8-0 guy and that's going to be helpful to the kids coming up.

Highland Park

(Continued from page C-1) thing. We were beaten by Perth Amboy (in the GMCT) when a home run was called foul, and we we're beaten in the state tournament on a play at the plate where our runner was called out in a very close play that could have gone either wav."

The Owls managed to play games in April when a lot of other teams didn't play, and they dominated those games, which helped them finish off an undefeated Gold Division season.

But then when the rain continued Highland Park lost some games that weren't rescheduled, and then to prepare for tournament play added contests against better teams. For the most part the Owls played those games tough but came up short in most of them.

'We got off to that great start and then the rain set us back, Policastro said. "Games we could have won got rained out, and then we played some tough teams to get ready for the state tournament.

There was no longer any rhythm when the rain came, but everybody was in the same boat. We were good, but we couldn't get over the hump against the good teams. Overall I'm pleased with the season. If I had one complaint it would be we didn't play enough games."

The Owls will lose just about their entire lineup to graduation, including their ace Joe Augustine. John Orfandis, who came on to lead the team in hitting with a .537 average, Lucas Cittone, Steve Mittler, Ed Guetti, Josh Horowitz, Jake Wolpert and Tim Marshall will also be lost.

"The thing I'll remember about this group of seniors will be their dedication to baseball from their freshmen year," Policastro said. "They always practiced hard, they always showed up and they were willing to do what you told them."

Sophomore Robert Hrapsky will be the only regular back, and while he figures to be the club's leader on the mound, it should be a rebuilding year.

"Next year could a tough year, but I'll worry about next year then," Policastro said. "I think Hrapsky is a good foundation to build around. The key will be the other kids playing summer ball."

Battle of Monmouth trip planned for June

Two hundred and twenty-five also include exhibits, and a rears ago, a ragged group of deterenactment of the battle. years ago, a ragged group of determined rebels changed the world forever. From the bleak hills of Valley Forge, this band of Patriot soldiers marched across New Jersey to fight the longest sustained battle of the American Revolution: the Battle of Monmouth. Retrace the footsteps of George Washington, Lafayette and others in the "Heritage Trail Association's Ride to Monmouth: the Rebels Recharge," a special bus tour to the 225th anniversary celebration of the Battle of Monmouth on Saturday, June 28, 2003 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tickets are $35 per person and must be reserved by June 20th. Box lunches are included. Participants are encouraged to bring blankets or lawn chairs for comfortable viewing of the battle.

Join the Heritage Trail Association to experience this oncein-a-lifetime event without the hassles of driving, parking and standing in line as there will be preferential parking for the bus near the Continental camp. Participants should expect to walk short distances. No spectator cars will be allowed into the Battlefield State Park the weekend of the re-enactment. Parking for the anticipated 3,500 cars will be along Route 22 and in designated fields.

The event is expected to attract about 10,000 people and will include thousands of re-enactors, 1,500 tents, 34 cannons, 76 musicians, and dozens of horses, all of which will replicate in great detail life in George Washington's time. The event will

The Heritage Trail narrated bus tour will leave from the historic Van Horne House at 941 East Main Street in Bridgewater, New Jersey. Parking is available behind Target. The bus will travel along the scenic Millstone River to Rocky Hill, where they will follow some of the route marched by Washington's Army to its fateful battle with the British at the Monmouth Court House. Along the way, participants will learn about the events leading up to the famous battle. After arriving at the Monmouth Battlefield State Park, tour goers will enjoy 225th anniversary of the Battle of Monmouth which includes one of the largest Revolutionary War reenactments held in the United

The Battle of Monmouth Court House, fought on June 28, 1778 almost by accident, started as a minor skirmish that by the end of day grew to involve thousands of American, British and Hessian soldiers. Intense artillery fire, massive infantry charges and deadly summer heat, led to significant casualties on both sides. The battle marked the end of British control of central New Jersey and the first time that the Baron Von Steubentrained American Army was tested in major combat. As the sun set over central New Jersey on that bloody 28th of June, George Washington had wrestled victory from the jaws of defeat and the legend of an obscure Pennsylvania farm girl, nicknamed Molly Pitcher, a magical summer evening, featuring picturesque picnicking, spectacular Grucci fireworks and the renowned New Jersey Symphony Orchestra. "Music at Moorland" — Central New Jersey's kickoff to summer — will be held Thursday, June 26 at Moorland Farms, home of the legendary Far Hills Race Meeting.

The second annual event will feature a twilight performance by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra followed by a fireworks display by the famous Grucci family of Long Island, which has staged fireworks for six presidential inaugurations, three Olympic Games and three world's fairs. Generously supported Aventis

efit Somerset Medical Center. "Somerset Medical Center Foundation is proud to bring this wonderful new tradition to our community with the support of Aventis," said John T. von Stade, chairman of Somerset Medical Center Foundation and co-chair of Music at Moorland. "We hope that families throughout Central New Jersey will come together to celebrate the start of summer and enjoy the seasonal splendor of the Somerset Hills. It promises to be an exciting evening for all ages."

Adds Evelyn Self, director of corporate relations for Aventis, Aventis is pleased to partner with icalcenter.com.

Somerset Medical Center to give Central New Jersey families the experience of Tanglewood right in our own backyard. We are also committed to ensuring that our community has the first-class health care we need close to home.'

New Jersey Symphony Orchestra president Lawrence J. Tamburri says the orchestra jumped at the opportunity to showcase its talents at Music at Moorland because of the event's scenic setting and its good cause.

"Although the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is based in Newark, we are truly the state's orchestra and it is our mission to bring our music to audiences statewide," Tamburri said. "We are looking forward to performing in the Somerset Hills region in support of the quality health care services Somerset Medical Center provides to its patients.' The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra has received critical acclaim for its concerts in New Jersey, Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center and abroad and has recorded numerous concerts for radio and television broadcasts. The 2002-03 season marks the orchestra's sixth season as resident orchestra of the New Jersey Performing Arts Center in Newark.

'2 Fast 2 Furious' a 'chop-shop quickie' and '2 silly'

NEW RELEASES

"2 FAST 2 FURIOUS" - The speed party "2 Fast 2 Furious" is 2 silly 2 believe and 2 cliched 2 be very entertaining. 2 bad. It stars Paul Walker, back as Brian from the 2001 summer hit "The Fast and the Furious," in which he was an undercover cop and rival, then pal, of mechanic and street racer Dom (Vin Diesel). Walker gets to appear slight next to the big rack of torso Tyrese cast as racer and ex-con Roman Pearce. The setting is now Miami. The script is a chop-shop quickie with a greasy aroma of "Miami Vice." The car scenes are so heavily edited and accessorized with tech-freak dazzle that even the blasting finish collapses into a string of stunts. This film is just a motorized budget. Cast: Paul Walker, Tyrese, Cole Hauser, Eva Mendes, James Remar. Running time: 1 hr., 44 min. (Elliott) Rated PG-13. 1 1/2 stars.

soft salute to the folk music boom of 1955-63, as aged folkies gather for a celebration at New York's Town Hall. Nearly all the political edge of the movement has been peeled away, and what's left are quaintly corny bits of nostalgia, amusingly silly songs and rather smugly "inside" improvs by the Guest Gang: himself, Jennifer Coolidge, Eugene Levy, Michael McKean, Catherine O'Hara, Fred Willard (genius of bad humor), Parker Posey, Bob Balaban, etc. 1 hr. 27 min. (Elliott). Rated PG-13.

"BRUCE ALMIGHTY" - One more bulldozing "concept" comedy, with silly outtakes at the end. It uses some of Jim Carrey's amazing gift for physical humor, playing a TV news goofus who yearns to become an anchor and, sinking fast, is loaned divine powers by God (Morgan Freeman: Who better?). Sadly, there is no shape or style; smart gags like a "Ten Commandments" spoof are followed by dumb ones like the shots of a dog urinating, and more time is found for gummy uplift than for Freeman and Carrey to overlap their remarkable talents.

'2 Fast 2 Furious' features car races, chase scenes and car wrecks. It also stars Paul Walker and Tyrese.

"CONFIDENCE" - In this slick trifle, Ed Burns seems to be doing Ben Affleck, as grifter Jake Vig. He gets into uneasy crime business with The King, not Elvis but Dustin Hoffman doing a scummy thug update on Ratso Rizzo. There is a dull scam involving a money transfer, computers and slippery tricks that pose as plot; the engaged, sometimes amusing cast includes Rachel Weisz, Paul Giamatti, Andy Garcia and Luis Guzman. 1 hr. 38 min. (Elliott). Rated R. 2

"DOWN WITH LOVE" - She's ginchy, pink and perky, she's the 'writer" as cupcake (Renee Zellweger). In the JFK '60s, she falls for a swingin' grabber guy, acted with oiled hair, shark smile and nips of wit by Ewan McGregor. He's like Tony Randall promoted to Rock Hudson, but has his own Randall stooge (David Hyde Pierce) and the real Randall also appears. Director Peyton Reed loved snapping the retro plastic twinks together, the decor and old songs. Some fun, played by Shia LeBeouf and but this is a candied mothball. 1 hr. 36 min. (Elliott) Rated PG-13.

"FINDING NEMO" - Not since "Bambi" has an instant Disney family classic caused such species guilt. The joyously animated Pixar package tells of a clownfish dad looking for his wee son, who was netted for a tank (neat touch: in a dentist's office). Exciting liquid adventures, sporty wit, a grand span of fishy life and fine voicing, especially by Albert Brooks and Ellen DeGeneres. For all its fun, the movie arrives as news floods in of collapsing marine populations around the world. Maybe this charmer is a wake-up call? 1 hr. 41 min. (Elliott) Rated G. 4 stars.

"HOLES" - A spree of impish whimsy from novelist Louis Sachar, who adapted his popular book. Andrew Davis directed with a tone that veers unsurely from pathos to hokum to terror to myth, though the two main boys at a youth detention camp, whose inmates are made to dig for buried treasure, are appealingly

Khleo Thomas. The adult team includes Sigourney Weaver, Henry Winkler, Eartha Kitt and brazenly campy Jon Voight. 1 hr. 51 min. (Elliott). Rated PG. 2 1/2

"THE IN-LAWS" - Remake of a fairly funny 1979 film with Peter Falk and Alan Arkin, in which a casually insane CIA agent involves a wired-tight dentist, whose daughter is to marry the agent's son, in an escalating series of sub-rosa intrigues. The 2003 version offers Michael Douglas in the Falk role and, perhaps on the premise that feet are funnier than teeth, Albert Brooks as a podiatrist. Douglas and Brooks measure up, but the filmmakers miscalculate by putting the best stuff up front: This kind of movie has to keep upping the goofiness, and 2003 has nothing to match 1979's Central American dictator talking through a hand puppet. Running time: 1 hr., 38 min. (Salm) Rated PG-13. 2 stars.

"THE ITALIAN JOB" - A sharp remake (the 1969 original is now little remembered) with a swift heist in Venice, updated speed thrills, but the little Mini Coopers are back and niftier than ever. A chilling villain (Ed Norton), and blithe crew of crafty heisters looking to avenge their leader Sutherland): Mark Wahlberg, Charlize Theron, Mos Def, Seth Green, Jason Statham, all crisply propelled by F. Gary Gray's breezy, beautifully timed direction. Despite some implausibles and an overdone soundtrack, this is a classy caper show. 1 hr., 51 min. (Elliott) Rated PG-13. 3 1/2

"THE MATRIX RELOADED" - Another gusher of effects, bland hyperviolence and "mythic" plot, strictly for rabid fans of the 1999 hit. Keanu Reeves barely acts (a blessing), looks chic, seems to be ruled by an epic fate fathomed only by computer nerds in some parallel universe. The Wachowski brothers made it on a huge budget, treat females as toys, load on glossy visuals, multiply the coldest villain. Even Laurence Fishburne, his cranium bulging with belief, ends up puzzled. "To be continued" this fall. 2 hrs., 18 min. (Elliott) Rated R. 2 stars.

"WHAT A GIRL WANTS" What she really wants is a rich Brit dad played by sheepish charmer Colin Firth. She's cute, very American Amanda Bynes, the TV cutie whose smile beams in overtime. As Daphne, she both abrades and wows the stuffy English in a very upscale London, though her new boyfriend is a prole rocker (Oliver James) who plays the best parties. This perky plastic reduction of 1958's "The Reluctant Debutante" does not lift director Dennie Gordon to the rank of Vincente Minnelli, but that film wasn't top Minnelli. With Kelly Preston, Jonathan Pryce and funny Eileen Atkins. 1 hr., 40 min. (Elliott) Rated PG. 2 stars.

RATINGS 4 STARS - Excellent. 3 STARS - Worthy. 2 STARS - Mixed. 1 STAR - Poor. 0 - Forget It.

Bonnie Brae Polo Classic coming

Fieldview Farm, Hills Polo Club, is the location of the Bonnie Brae Polo Classic 2003 on Saturday, June 14.

The fourth annual event raises funds for Bonnie Brae, a private non-profit accredited residential and special education center in Bernards Township serving emotionally disturbed boys 11-18 years old.

Last year's event drew more than 2,500 to the Polo Club. This year's event is a 10-goal match between the Peapack-Gladstone Bank champion side and the New Jersey Life challengers.

Rain date is Sunday, June 15. Fieldview Farm offers a stunning backdrop for a spirited game of polo and a day of lavish tailgating, complete with women in flowing dresses and pretty hats. The 150-acre site near Exit 15 of Interstate 78 has lush green pastures surrounded by stately trees, picturesque garden nursery and sprawling equestrian properties.

Gates open at noon for tailgating and pre-match activity. The Classic Car Club of America will showcase a collection of cars the which will be rolled onto the Pittstown-based home of the Far field before the match. Shoppers will have an opportunity to purchase equestrian-theme items at the Polo Shop. Art enthusiasts will also have an opportunity to view a collection of equestrian artwork in the Equestrian Art Exhibition and Awards Tent by several renowned artists. The Peter Van Nostrand Jazz Ensemble supplies background music outside the VIP Champagne Tent sponsored by the Olde Mill Inn of Basking Ridge with Remy Amerique and Bernardsville-based Raritan Liquors as hosts.

A distinguished panel of judges will award prizes for creative tailgate parties in a variety of categories: most original theme, most elegant tailgate, best corporate design, most outstanding gourmet presentation, best hat at the event. Prizes are awarded at halftime.

Thompson, P.A., also will be offered for a Continental Airlines vacation package for two with a choice of over 100 destinations, airfare and hotel included.

You may order tailgate food from Califon Fine Foods plus wine and spirits from Clinton Wine & Gourmet and Raritan Liquors. These agencies will deliver your food and beverage directly to your tailgate slot. You may also bring your own food, hire your own catering or purchase simple fare on site. Tailgate patrons on the south side get tables, chairs and passes for the VIP Champagne Tent. Registration is required for all caterers.

Opening ceremonies begin 1 p.m. with the Champion Bagpipe and Drum Corps, followed by the parade of classic cars. The national anthem includes a flag ceremony presented by the Morris County Park Police mounted unit. A brief explanation of how polo is played precedes the actual start of the match 2 p.m. Divots are stomped on at-halftime, which A raffle sponsored by Olsen & also includes demonstrations by the Tewksbury Foot Bassets and the Top Notch Equestrian Drill Team.

An awards ceremony, raffle drawing and champagne toast follow the match, which is scheduled to end around 5 p.m.

Tailgate slots are $500, $300 and $150; amenities and location vary by price. Reservations are required for tailgate slots. General admission is $10 for adults and free for children under 12. For reservations and information, more www.fieldviewfarm.com phone (908) 580-0051.

Sponsors for the Bonnie Brae Polo Classic 2003 include AIG Private Client Group, Chubb Corp., Conover & Brems Inc., Fellowship Village, Foley Rents, Financial Advisors, Hackettstown Supply Co., Hawk Pointe Golf Club, Hudson Bank United Management, Jaeger Lumber, New Jersey Life, Olde Mill Inn, Olsen & Thompson, P.A., Peapack-Gladstone Bank, Raritan Liquors Inc., RBC Dain Rauscher, Recorder Community Newspapers, Remy Amerique, RTCW Landscape Inc. Contractors, Somerset Hills Hotel, The Stable Thoroughbred Motorcars, Torsilieri Inc., Twill Printing Inc. and U.S. Trust Company of New Jersey.

Arts society planning exhibit

EDISON — The Edison Arts Society will present Gardens of the Garden State, a collaboration between gardeners and artists being presented at the Menlo Park Mall Center Court from 6-9 p.m. Friday, June 13; from 11 a.m.-7 p.m. Saturday, June 14; and from noon-4 p.m. Sunday, June 15.

The statewide juried art and photography exhibit features 24 artworks and 21 photographs that inspired the work. "Live" gardens provided by Sanguiliano Garden Center in Scotch Plains are also part of the exhibit.

Participating artists include: Margaret McCrary-Anderson of Piscataway, Peter Arakawa of Edison, Bill Giacalone of Highland Park, Janet Naeder of Metuchen, Ray Skibinski of Edison and Myra Slava Stojko of Highland mesmerized by his company's balloon festival since his first experience there in 1993.

Artist mesmerized by balloon fest

Born in Westfield and now living in Flemington, Amato is a Quick Chek District Manager responsible for nine stores. He also happens to be an artist of some renown. This year, in celebration of his decade-long love affair with naturally powered flight, he has applied those talents to the 2003 Quick Chek New Jersey Festival of Ballooning.

His work will actually be the most prominent visual representation of the 21st annual event, scheduled for the weekend of July 25-27 at Solberg Airport in Readington, NJ. Amato conceived and drew the artwork for the event's official poster, which will adorn thousands of storefronts, newspaper ads, workplace bulletin boards and basement playrooms all across NJ. The poster will also be a vehicle to raise money for Children's Miracle Network (CMN), since a portion of every ticket sold at Quick Chek stores benefits both

"It's a wonderful experience to be able to convey a message through art," said Amato. "I hope this year's Festival touches he currently holds. Some of his people as much as it has touched

The poster was originally created as an oil painting on illustration board. The procedure included first covering the board with sealant and then drawing his vision in pencil. Amato then added the detail and the color to create an image that captures the essence of the event, a family-oriented celebration of the magic of hot air ballooning.

"The poster is our most important marketing tool," said Howard Freeman, who has produced the last 11 Festivals. "Flip's work is compelling and provocative and it sends a 'come visit' message to the consumer. That's what we asked him for, and he delivered."

"We love having our employees involved in the fabric of the Festival," said Bob Page, President of Quick Chek Food Stores. "Flip is emotionally attached to the event, like all the Quick Chek staff who work the big weekend each year."

Somerset Art Association to showcase its work

The Somerset Art Association allow guests to meet our teachwill showcase the exceptional work of many of its talented faculty members this Spring and Part I of the Painter To Painter exhibit opens with a reception on Thursday, June 26 from 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. Devoted to oils, acrylics, sculpture and photography, the show will run through July 25.

Part II opens on Thursday, July 31st with a focus on watercolor, pastel, mixed media, drawing and collage.

"The faculty show presents an opportunity for the public as well as students to see work by the SAA's talented and awardwinning faculty," says SAA Executive Director Robyn Tromeur. "The reception will display her wonderful murals.

ers and learn firsthand about their art and working techniques. It is the SAA's first comprehensive faculty show since moving into its Bedminster facility in 1995."

Area artists participating in the show are: Billie-Marie Aber of Basking Ridge, Walter Choroszewski of Hillsborough, Timothy Jahn of Piscataway, Nancy Ori of Berkeley Heights, and Yelena Piatigorsky and Joseph Sundwall both of Bridgewater.

Billie-Marie Aber of Basking Ridge specializes in decorative finishes and trompe l'oeil creations — exceptionally real-life paintings that "fool the eye." Many restaurants and homes

She also works on floor cloths, paper, glass and furniture.

Aber's favorite themes are: florals, fruit, still life and landscapes. She enjoys sharing her talent and creative style by teaching art at all levels ranging from kindergarten through college and senior citizen groups.

Photographer Choroszewski of Hillsborough is known for his many regional books and calendars. Over the last twenty years, he has captured the Mid-Atlantic's beautiful scenery, historic landmarks and interesting people through the lens of his camera. In addition, his work has appeared extensively in New Jersey tourism campaigns, Bell Atlantic telephone directories, New Jersey Monthly magazine and many corporate brochures.

Timothy Jahn of Piscataway teaches courses in oil painting. Gallery coordinator for the Swain Galleries in Plainfield for several years, Jahn's own work has received numerous awards including: a Scholarship membership to Salmagundi Club, NY, Traveling Grant to the LaCoste School of Arts, LaCoste, France and a Full Merit Scholarship to the Art Students League.

Nancy Ori of Berkeley Heights is respected internationally as an industrial photographer and video producer. Ori's work expresses her own interpretation of the landscape and architecture. Her photos reveal a love of light, shadow and form in natural and man-made set-

Ori shares her love of photography by offering classes and workshops throughout the U.S. Her own work has been exhibited in numerous galleries and museums including The Papermill Playhouse Gallery, Millburn, Simon Gallery, Morristown, Newark Museum and Monmouth Museum.

Home equity is key to helping families build wealth

By JAMES M. WOODARD

COPLEY NEWS SERVICE

Homeownership has always been important to most families, but never more so than it is today. Owning a home gives an individual or family a sense of pride. They're not just temporarily renting a shelter for themselves. It's their property. They can make changes and improvements in ways that meet their personal tastes. And they can live there as long as they want, assuming they keep current on mortgage and tax payments

Today, there are more motivating factors pulling people into ownership. Increasingly, owning a home and building equity is a family's primary source of accumulating wealth. Many people now have a stronger appreciation of the investment value of owning a home since the stock market has been sliding down precariously.

Currently, about two-thirds of home. For three-fourths of those now the major portion of their total wealth, according to a recent study by the National Association of Realtors.

Many homeowners now include their home as a factor when making important financial decisions. The growth of equity in those residential properties provides owners with access to cash for emergencies as well as for the purchase of big-ticket items.

Also, that equity build-up often provides the down payment and closing costs for a subsequent purchase of a larger, more expensive home when family growth or business status generate such a need.

About 76 percent of homeowners responding to the survey said they used all the equity in a former home for the down payment on a new residence. Another 10 percent put some of their equity back into their new home. By investing the accumulated equity in a larger home, these families American households own their improved their standard of living and increased their potential for wealth.

The survey revealed the average homeowner now has about $50,000 in equity. Of course, higher-income households and owners of homes in high-priced areas usually have much more equity than that. Those with incomes greater than $75,000 per year typically have about $100,000 in equity.

As would be expected, senior homeowners (those age 50 and older) tend to have more equity in their homes. Their median level of equity, nationally, is about $80,000. Households younger than age 40 have a median equity of $35,000, according to the sur-

About 16 percent of homeowners have significantly changed their spending or saving behavior as a result of their growing equity. They depend more on this "forced saving" vehicle, and it

A study by the Federal Reserve also indicates that an increasing number of holders in stock equity owners, their homeownership is building even greater household have changed their spending or saving behavior. And in many cases, they changed from depending on stock yields to equity in their home or other forms of real estate investing.

Three out of four respondents to the association survey indicated they now have more wealth in their home than in a stock market portfolio. This is largely due to substantial appreciation in property values and declining yields in stocks.

When homeowners need cash, the most common method is to tap their equity with a home equity loan or a second mortgage. Half of homeowners today use these methods. About 22 percent pulled cash out of their home when they refinanced their mort-

A whopping $3 trillion in mortgage loans will be written this year. That's the forecast from the Mortgage Bankers Association of record-setting mortgage origination volume by more than half a trillion dollars. About $1.95 trillion of that total, or 65 percent, will be due to mortgage refinancing loans, MBA predicts.

Q: How many senior home buyers purchase their home with all cash?

A: Surprisingly, about 60 percent of seniors over age 50 are paying all cash for a new home, according to a report from Countrywide Home Loans. Most or all of that cash usually came from the accumulated equity in the senior's former residence.

It was also noted in the report that today's seniors place high priority on high-tech wiring in homes they are considering for purchase. Also, they generally prefer single-story homes with an exceptionally large master bed-

Q: Is it generally a doom-andgloom time for home builders this

A: Home builders are apparently optimistic about the outlook for the housing market despite conflicting economic news in recent weeks. They are encouraged by stronger buyer traffic and home sales. Even those builders who were apprehensive about future prospects are now expressing positive opinions about the market and how it will perform for the rest of this year, according to a report from the Meyers Group, a research and consulting

"With worries about the war in Iraq behind them, we expect home builders will pick up the pace of construction activity in the months ahead," the report stated. "Home-building activity will remain strongest in California, Florida, Texas, Georgia and North Carolina.

"We also believe price appreciation will slow this year in most housing markets, especially in those areas where employment growth remains weak."

Need a new car for that new driver in your house?

got a driver's license? Chances are you consider this development both a blessing and a curse. There's a sense of freedom in no longer having to act as your son or daughter's personal chauffeur. But there is also the fear of knowing that new, young drivers are involved in more traffic accidents than other segments of the driving population. A young adult driver is killed in a car crash every 15 minutes.

You may also be facing the prospect of adding another car to your garage. Choosing the right car for your teen may not make her a better driver, but may be a key factor in keeping her safe. The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, which crash- with "The Consumer Guide than vehicles six to 10 years old.

year, advises parents to choose a midsize vehicle with lots of safety features such as air bags and antilock brakes.

If your budget can support buying your teen a new car, chances are most recommended safety features will be standard issue, and your biggest dilemma will be choosing a paint color. However, if you are looking at used cars for your teen driver, you may have to do a little more research to find a car with appropriate safety equipment. Here are some tips from the experts at Farmers Insurance best car for your new driver:

- A good place to start is information on car safety available from the U.S. Department of Transportation, the Insurance Information Institute, and the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety. This background can help you zero in on cars that can better protect your teen in case she's ever involved in an accident.

Choose the newest model Group that can help you find the your budget can afford, since most of today's cars are better designed for crash protection working airbags. Many models manufactured after 1993 or 1994 have at least a driver's side

- Know the market before - Check out the consumer you shop. Use the Internet or your local library to research prices on the make and model car you're interested in. Armed with this information, you'll be in a better position to negotiate a good deal.

 Use the power of the Internet to make your search easier. Check out an online car buying site for details on used cars in your area.

Once you find a car you're interested in, don't take the owner's or the dealer's assurances as the last word on find out about any accident or

- Make sure the car has whether the car is in good shape. Check the horn, lights, heat, air-conditioning, brakes, seat belts and steering.

Look for evidence that might indicate the car was in a major accident, such as cracks in the dashboard or doors that don't quite shut properly. Check the car for evidence of tampering, like any marks on the odometer or numbers that don't line up. Ask the owner or the dealer for the car's accident and maintenance record. Web sites such as www.carfax.com use a car's vehicle identification number (VIN) to unearth hidden problems in a vehicle's past that may affect its safety and resale value. For a small fee, you can flood damage, odometer rollbacks, lemon histories, lien activity and vehicle use (taxi, rental, lease, etc.)

Unless you really know cars. have a mechanic you trust go over the car and alert you to any potential problems. Although this checkup costs money up front, if there is something wrong with the car that isn't readily apparent, it's money well spent that could save you a fortune down the road.

Finally, check out insurance costs for the car you are considering before you buy it. Depending on the make, model and year of the car, this cost can vary substantially, and might influence your final decision.

Follow these maintenance tips to keep your going and going

(ARA) — Research shows that some people care for their cars more than others. According to industry expert George Witt, vehicle owners fall into four categories:

1. People who love their cars,

2. People who think of their cars only as a tool that gets them from point A to point B,

3. People who like their cars, but have no idea that their cars need maintenance, and 4. People who know their vehicles need maintenance, but don't always do it. To assist all four categories of vehicle owners, PTAC has developed easy-to-follow car care tips. When people read these tips and see how regular maintenance can help their vehicles get better gas mileage, deliver more dependable service, and last a lot longer, they may all start giving their cars, trucks and SUVs pet names.

Pharmaceutical Excipient

Formulation Specialist

Job Description:

The Water Soluble Polymers Department has a number of well-known (POLYOX*, METHOCEL* and ETHOCEL*), rapidly growing multifunctional excipients that are used in the pharmaceutical industry as modified release polymers. To support this rapid growth, the department requires a Pharmaceutical Excipient Formulation expert to further develop our modified release technology capabilities and foster close technical links to our customers and to the industry leaders. The incumbent will be expected to develop a deep understanding of the use of our products in modified release applications and drug delivery systems and to be able to converse with the industry experts on a level footing. The incumbent should also expect to be called upon to give customer seminars and to deliver leading-edge scientific papers supporting the use of our products in pharmaceutical applications. The person will work closely with our global Water Soluble Polymers Pharmaceutical Excipients R&D organizations located in Michigan, New Jersey and Switzerland.

Responsibilities and Qualifications

- Minimum of 5 years in product development and technical support within pharmaceutical industry.
- Experience in water soluble polymers as pharmaceutical excipients.
- Experience in developing commercially successful controlledrelease formulations within Pharmaceutical industry.
- PhD in Pharmaceutical Science or equivalent (will also consider BS/MS with appropriate experience).
- Key contributor, providing insight into decision making process used by Pharmaceutical companies in their modified release formulation programs.
- Successful candidate should have extensive publication record in refereed journals in area of modified release technology.
- · Willing to work both, in a laboratory setting and with customers to generate leading edge publications.
- Position can be located in either Bound Brook, NJ or Midland, MI.

Apply online to The Dow Chemical Company at: www.careersatdow.com. Job #0300078 Pharma Excipient Formulation Specialist Only those selected for an interview will be contacted.
